

Statement of participation

EO Wellness

has completed the free course including any mandatory tests for:

Aberdulais Falls: A case study in Welsh heritage

Using Aberdulais Falls in Wales as a case study, this 2-hour free course explored key issues and debates surrounding natural and industrial heritage.

Issue date: 11 March 2021

www.open.edu/openlearn

This statement does not imply the award of credit points nor the conferment of a University Qualification.
This statement confirms that this free course and all mandatory tests were passed by the learner.

Please go to the course on OpenLearn for full details:

<https://www.open.edu/openlearn/history-the-arts/history/aberdulais-falls-case-study-welsh-heritage/content-section-0>

COURSE CODE: A180_2

Aberdulais Falls: A case study in Welsh heritage

<https://www.open.edu/openlearn/history-the-arts/history/aberdulais-falls-case-study-welsh-heritage/content-section-0>

Course summary

This free course, Aberdulais Falls: A case study in Welsh heritage, looks at the Aberdulais Falls in Wales, and considers the key issues affecting the decision-making of the bodies which are responsible for looking after our heritage. We examine the heritage debates: who decides what should be preserved from the past as our heritage, who is this heritage for, and how should it be presented and explained?

Learning outcomes

By completing this course, the learner should be able to:

- understand some of the issues surrounding natural heritage
- understand some of the issues surrounding industrial heritage
- demonstrate an awareness of why tensions often arise between conservation and the demands of modern tourism.

Completed study

The learner has completed the following:

Section 1

Aberdulais Falls